

Empower Training Services: Making a Difference in the Workplace

Empower Training Services' education seminars have become a big part of Dave Vaniel's role as a Maintenance Sales Representative at Schultheis Electric in Latrobe, Pa.

The company has offered several Empower Training Services seminars over the last several years for employees, and existing and prospective clients. Vaniel offers high praise for the seminars. His company's most recent seminar was April 19, 2018, in Monroeville, Pa. It had 35 participants from various companies, including several prospects, from around the region.

Joe Gierlach, ABM Franchising Group's Vice President of Technical Training and Support, led the seminar on Arc Flash Safety. The seminars teach participants about electrical safety, based on the NFPA 70E Standards. Training includes information on Arc Flash, PPE and NFPA Methods of Selecting PPE, Flash Protection Boundaries, and the limits of approach.

Vaniel said the Empower Training Services program has done an excellent job helping to coordinate Schultheis Electric's seminars.

"ABM Franchising Group has gone out of their way to help me," Vaniel said. "It has definitely expanded my skillset and knowledge of arc flash hazards, the dangers of working with electricity and the importance of preventive maintenance.

"Their wealth of knowledge and real-world experiences, combined with their teaching styles, are top-notch. They're willing to go the extra mile to provide the ultimate customer service and training experience by staying late or after class to answer additional questions from students, doing walkthroughs at customers' sites, reviewing customers' current case studies and more. Needless to say, we have been very pleased."

After each seminar, Vaniel said his company has received excellent feedback from participants and the companies that sent participants about the content's delivery and value.
