What is a Battle Staff Ride?

A Battle Staff Ride delivers a unique learning opportunity to acquire valuable leadership skills through a hands-on history lesson.

Battle Staff Rides are a part of ABM Franchising Group's 2019 Leadership Series. Each Battle Staff Ride offers a specialized learning opportunity for Linc Service and TEGG franchises.

The Leadership Series is tailored to mechanical and electrical businesses and aims to develop leadership capabilities needed to succeed in today's changing work environment for all leaders within the franchise network.

The Gettysburg Battle Staff Ride will be led by instructor Sam Doss, a recognized US Army and military history expert. Doss served as a reservist at the US Army Center of Military History and trains army leaders.

The 2019 Gettysburg Battle Staff Ride

The Gettysburg Battle Staff Ride takes participants on a trip to explore battlefields and historical locations to learn leadership styles and strategies used during this pivotal US Civil War battle.

About the Gettysburg Battle Staff Ride:

- Gettysburg was home to one of the largest and deadliest battles of the Civil War, and many of the homes and landmarks remain as markers of historical events.
- Gettysburg is home to many battlefields which, along with the history of each battle, will be explored during the event.
- Explore the history of several important Civil War events through museums and lectures.

The cost to attend this Battle Staff Ride is approximately $1,500 (the fee is based on the number of participants), and a $500 deposit is due by April 1, 2019 to secure your attendance.
